

New Pet Owner Introduction:

For new owners of cats and dogs or animal lovers who are considering to adopt a pet, we offer a consultation to help you address these issues:

- Behavioral (i.e. how to prevent unwanted aggression, separation anxiety or destructive habits right from the start)
- Nutritional (i.e. what food is really best for your pet and why)
- Miscellaneous (i.e. pet health insurance, recommended veterinarians, toys, leashes)

Understanding these aspects of pet care will enable you to provide holistic care to your new furry family member and could save you lots of money on vet bills.

This consultation will also open your eyes to behavioral patterns that you could not explain to yourself yet and helps you to communicate better with your pet. Most of all, we will enable you to offer your animal a higher life expectancy and avoid unnecessary medical expenses when you follow recommended instructions properly.

This opportunity will be fun for the whole family. We recommend that you make notes on your questions in advance so that we can specifically address them and lay individual emphasis on your personal preferences and previous experiences.

At the end of our meeting, we will provide you with print outs for your files so that you can simply listen and observe without having to concentrate on making notes.

Whether you have owned a pet before and have a new pet with a different personality or if you are considering your first pet ever, you owe it to yourself, your family and your new furry family member to take advantage of our individualized, comprehensive service. Don't hesitate to call us!

This consultation will cost only $30 and will last approximately 1-1/2 hours.
